

Media Safety Rules

1. Journalists, photographers and cameramen, among others, while accredited MEDIA elements in the competition or the inherent infrastructure in the European Champions Clubs Cup (ECCC) will only be granted prior approval and accreditation by those responsible for the organization (LOC - Local Organising Committee);
2. Accredited MEDIA people should respect fully and steadily the indications and instructions from subjects responsible for organizing the ECCC – the LOC, security, law enforcement officers and referees responsible for the regulation and validation of the competition, under the security plan defined by these entities;
3. Accredited MEDIA people will have to use the MEDIA vest (provided by the LOC), being allowed to stay in the areas forbidden to the general public, under their own responsibility, in accordance with the term of responsibility dully signed by them . Still, the indications from the responsible staff for organizing the ECCC, security, law enforcement officers and judges responsible for the regulation and validation of competition should be fully respected and heeded at any time;
4. Accredited MEDIA people without MEDIA vest will not be allowed to stay in the areas forbidden to the general public. Failure to comply with this rule will void the accreditation;
5. Accredited MEDIA people should tailor their actions, at the moment of the events, according to the safety standards. Their security in the places of throw events is paramount and depends thereof;
6. The LOC will give notice about places and sites where pictures are not allowed to be taken when accreditation will take place.

Media Safety Rules

For attention of Accredited MEDIA people:
